

Code is still a valid method of communication and an amateur radio operator sending and receiving emergency traffic should be familiar with all modes.